COWBOYS AND ANGELS

Words and music written by Marc Corey Lee

It's been 20 years and a month and a day
Since the night when the love of her life rode away
She'd met him on a Sunday when he asked her to dance
And she swayed to the music of midnight romance
In the starlight the old time band played

CHORUS:

I've dreamed of cowboys and angels and lovers and fools
The night that you held me when no one else would
All the things that I dream of, I know they come true
And that's why I'm dreaming of you

Seems he worked as a cowboy and just passin' through
He was working his way down to some job near Baton Rouge
But he left in a hurry like fools sometimes do
And he swore in a whisper, "I'll come back to you."
But the seasons went by as she cried

Chorus

She once tried to reach him but she couldn't find his name
She wondered if things couldn't be the same
And he tried to find her a dozen times more
But she stays there still in his mind

Now it's a Monday and her workday begins
She's waitin' on tables and smiling again
Then she sees some old cowboy, he's smiling her way
And her eyes fill with tears as she drops down her tray
She rushes to his arms and she cries

Chorus
