SOUTH OF SAN ANTONE

Words and music written by Marc Corey Lee

Early morning, it's another day
I stopped counting long ago
Since I left you for another one
I left you standing there alone

But she wasn't what I thought she'd be Underneath her demure smile
And our imagined love just faded away
Now I've been lost for quite a while

I don't know if you still love me and I'm not sure if you still care
But I hope you're all alone cuz tonight I'm coming home
And I'm just south of San Antone

In the moonlight it's just you and me
Dancing cheek to cheek alone
But then I wake up and it's all just been a dream
I turn off the motel radio

Chorus

Your telephone's been ringing all night long
Still no answer, so it seems
Then suddenly a voice, "say what's your name again?"
"No I'm sorry she got married to another man and left some time ago."

I don't know if you still love me and I'm not sure if you still care
But know you're not alone and I won't be coming home
And I'm just south of San Antone
